

DRONACHARYA COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING
KHENTAWAS, GURGAON

Automation :

Library is using e-Granthalaya software which is an integrated multi user library management software developed by National Informatics Centre, New Delhi. It covers all basic as well advance operations and services of the library. Retrospective conversion of the records has been completed. Bibliographic records of IRC's holdings can be, accessed through the e- Granthalaya's On-line Public Access Catalogue (OPAC). A Bar code based circulation system is in use. All books have been Bar Coded andd members have been given bar coded membership cards.

Networking of the Library :

Library is a part of campus Local Area Network. Library has its own sub LAN with 10 terminals dedicated for the various operations of library. Internet browsing facility is accessible on all the terminals of the library including to On-line resources subscribed by the library.

Bar code Based Circulation System :

Library 's operation and services are fully computerized with "e- Granthalaya" multi-user Integrated Library Automation Software, developed by National Informatics Centre, New Delhi. "e- Granthalaya" has a inbuilt facility to support Bar code based circulation System. All books have been Bar Coded and all the members have been given bar coded membership cards. Library is using a thermal bar code printer to generate bar code labels.